PRESS RELEASE FROM THE OFFICE OF DR. STEVE GALLON III

September 7, 2018

At the September 5, 2018 School Board meeting, Dr. Steve Gallon III honored Javan Allison, author of “The Adventures of Javan and the 3 A’s.”

Javan, a 5th-grade student at Norwood Elementary in District 1, decided to open up and let the world in by describing how he feels while battling severe asthma, ADHD, and anxiety by co-writing his first children’s book from his three-book series about his disabilities.

“#Asthmasucks” is the first book of the series where he describes how he feels and offers ways to prevent severe attacks through imaginary adventures.

Javan was commended on his contagious smile and bravery because despite his many medical conditions and near-death experience, he still found the courage and motivation to want to help parents and other children battling similar or the same conditions.

The item was unanimously co-sponsored and supported by the entire Board, and applauded by his proud family, friends, principal, and supporters in the auditorium as he stood with a bright smile and thankfulness while holding his proclamation.
